

A photograph of two Boxer dogs standing side-by-side on a weathered wooden deck. Both dogs are a reddish-brown color with white markings on their chests and paws. They are wearing black leather collars. The dog on the left has a white patch on its chest and white on its front paws. The dog on the right has a larger white patch on its chest and white on its front and back paws. They are looking directly at the camera. In the background, there is a white building with a circular window and a dark door.
